Incredible Inventions

Our topic for this half term will be "Incredible Inventions". Children will learn about inventors in the domain of medicine and how these inventions have developed the modern world of medicine and our the lives of people today. Children will use their learning to answer our Big

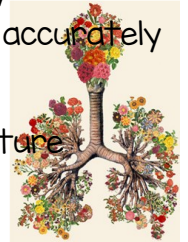

Idea of 'Who was Marie Curie?'

Magic Monday

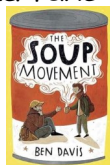

Pupils will be taught to draw and shade with a variety of drawing tools. Children will use inspiration from Trevis Bede to complete anatomical drawings. Children will create colour wheels to identify complementary and analogous colours. Children will learn to accurately draw flowers and petals and use tea-staining technique to add texture to their final piece.

English

We are going to start the year with a new book called The Soup Movement. This story is a reminder that big things around the world aren't always going great but we can make a difference on our doorstep. We will be writing part of the book, using the style of the author and predicting what will happen next. A new year means a new set of books on our reading scheme, children will be able to enjoy these in class and take them home to read and love.

Science

Science week is enquiry week. We will be focusing on the 5 types of enquiry. These include, observing over time, pattern seeking, fair tests, research and identify and classify. We will be using our prior knowledge of plants to carry out high-level investigations, drawing conclusions, using key vocabulary and plotting graphs. Lessons will include: observing how long a variety of plans will survive under the same conditions, dissecting a plant and researching what coloured flowers pollinating insects prefer.
